Joe, while not as well paid as was Dono Joe, while not as well paid as was Dono-van last year, is the highest-salaried man on the team. The brother of the famous Jim Corbett is drawing $3,00 a year more than his manager, for it is claimed that Nichole's contract calls for just $5,000 for the season of 1804. Should Corbett pitch only forty games this season it will mean that he will re-ceive $200 a game. Very few games last

Some overhealthy players manifest symptoms of rebellion during the process, but both Hedges and Johnson claim that they are finally overcome.

Corbett's case they cannot understand, for instead of a refluction, the player will get an increase of $2,000.

Many of the ball players have no immediate relef, and will have to "wotry along" on salaries of from $2,400 to $3,500, which is much less than they could earn were they to embark on professional careers. But, like all true artists, ball players are martyrs to their calling, and would rather devote their time to the pleasant task than to take up the lucrative professions of teamsters or bartenders, to which many of them drift after their days on the diamond are through. ard, Charles E. learned, but that an offer has been made for the services of one or both was not denied.

Should the Browns management succeed in landing either pitcher, it would increase their chances for a good standing in the American League race.

Notther man was a star last season, but both performed well. Tannehili claims that the climate about New York thurts his effectiveness, and it is known that he has asked to be traded. Hughes also has objections to playing in Bostom. Two years ago Tannehill was rated as the greatest southpaw in the business. While a member of the Pirates he displayed great form.

When the American League placed a team in New York City Tannehill, with O'Connor, Chesbro, Couroy and "Lefty" Davis jumped the Pittsburg team to play with Griffith's forces.

Batring Jack O'Connor, none of the Pittsburg deserters showed to their Pittsburg form, and this caused unpleasantness in the "Invaders" cumn.

Griffith has tried at various times to dispose of nearly all of the players he secured from the "Pirates" and has succeeded in getting rid of two of them—O'Connor and "Lefty" Davis.

Should Powell continue to remain out of the fold he might figure in a deal for either Tannehill or Hughes.

Deduces Strong Point From Capron's Testimony in Dewey Trial.

Norton, Kas., Feb. 17 .- When the trial of Chauncey Dewey, Clyde Wilson and William J. McBride was resumed to-day Mr. Capron was again called to the witness stand. It was he who testified last Saturday that he had driven Alpheus from Daniel Berry's home to Alpheus's house just before the shooting.

"As you drove by the tank on the road, did you see Chauncey Dewey, Daniel P. Berry, William J. McBride, Clyde Wilson or Winship?"

"And you are acquainted with all of

"And you are acquainted with all of them?"

"Yes, sir."

"After you left Alpheus, how far had you gone up the road before you heard the shots?"

"About fifteen rods."

"How many shots did you hear?"

"About six."

"Then you heard another volley?"

"Yes, I heard four, five, six or half a dozen at that time."

The importance of Mr. Capron's cross-examination was that he said he saw Bench run from the barn to the house, but he did not see Beach shoot. This would place the first shot fired by the Berrys prior to the time placed by Beach Berry.

Another point which the defense says it was were that at a distance of twenty rods."

Another point which the defense says it made was that at a distance of twenty rods, driving slowly, he did not see Dewey, McBirde or Daniel P. Berry, while from a distance of twenty-five rods, his horse going as fast as it could, he recognized Heach Berry running from the barn to the house.
